

Enterprising Cloak Firm in Fine New Quarters

ORKIN BROS., owners of the largest specialty cloak and suit house in the west, are preparing to move into their new location at 315-320 South Sixteenth street, where they will have forty-four feet front on Sixteenth street, making the most expensive salesroom in Omaha.

This firm, which also has a large house in Sioux City, is composed of four brothers, one of whom is in New York at all times, looking for bargains for the western houses. The firm has recently assumed a long-term lease in Sioux City, which, with the alterations, make the change a $200,000 proposition.

To make the new store a model in every way has been the ambition of Orkin Bros. and they think they have succeeded. Everything in the new store will be entirely new and nothing in the way of fixtures or stock will be moved from the old establishment on Douglas street. The fixtures are the handsomest store trimmings to be found and all the cases will be genuine mahogany. Twenty-one triple mirrors will be provided for the use of the customers and the lighting effect is to be most elaborate, including chandeliers designed by J. L. Orkin. Each case will be trimmed with electric globes.

Customers will not have to climb stairs or use an elevator, as the entire salesroom will be on the main floor. On the balcony will be placed the offices, fitting rooms and waiting room and all alterations will be made on the second floor.

This prosperous firm says it has an abiding faith in the future of Omaha and is preparing this new salesroom regardless of expense to make it the finest in the west. April 5 is the date set to move into the new building.

Among the Women's Clubs

Year Book of the Nebraska State Federation, Just Out, Has Much of Interest to the Club Woman—Nebraska Headquarters at Cincinnati—Interest in Scholarship Foundation—Some Notes on Woman's Work.

THE 1910 year book of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs is out and has been mailed to all state officers and committee members and presidents and corresponding secretaries of the individual clubs.

The book is gotten out this year in a soft brown cover decorated with the spray of goldenrod and is of the regulation size. It is larger than last year by thirteen pages and besides a directory of the clubs, list of committees and the constitution of the Nebraska Federation includes reports of officers and committees. In a brief greeting, Mrs. F. H. Cole, president of the Federation, says:

"The reports of committees and business transacted at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs held at Lincoln last October, together with the fine programs presented at the different sessions evidence a steady and continued growth not alone in membership, but in the earnest realization and sincerity of effort toward the mental, moral and material development of our state and nation. One could not listen to reports of our clubs which are working together as families to build up and maintain libraries, place pictures on the walls and provide manual and household economic training in the schools, rest rooms for the weary mother and child; planting trees and vines and caring for pauper lots in cemeteries, to say nothing of the work along lines of conservation and preservation, without believing that the clubs of our state are standing for that which shall develop in the young practicality of mind and some degree of spirituality of thought. The enthusiasm of efforts and money expended by our committee members in having meetings at their own personal expense whereby they may the more comprehensively plan our work along state and General Federation lines; the unflinching, cordial and loyal work done by every one of our officers; the ready and courteous co-operation of the press and the generosity of the Nations Corn exposition in bringing to us the state presidents of Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Kansas commend our continued acknowledgment and appreciation."

The corresponding secretary reports 141 clubs—the largest number ever enrolled in the state federation—and the enrollment of individual Nebraska clubs in the General Federation is also larger than ever before.

Nebraska's delegation to the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at Cincinnati May 9 to 13 cannot be accommodated at convention headquarters at the Hotel Flinton. The eastern delegations, which are among the largest, got their applications in ahead and so got the rooms. Reservations have been made for the Nebraska women, however, at the Gibson house, half a block away. Single rooms can be had here, European plan, for $1.50 and $2 a day without bath, and with bath for from 50 cents to $1 extra. Double rooms will cost from $1.50 to $2 a person. Reservations must be made as soon as possible. The Hotel Flinton has made a special rate of 25 cents for breakfast and $1 for dinner to club women, which will enable the Nebraska women to enjoy most of the privileges of headquarters, although not lodged there. The convention's railroad bulletin announces that a rate of one and a half between Omaha and Chicago by the North-western and a round trip of $9 between Chicago and Cincinnati. Women wishing reservation on the special car between Omaha and Cincinnati will pay an additional charge of $4.50.

The education committee of the Nebraska Federation urges club women to contribute to the fund for the maintenance of a scholarship for the daughter of a club woman at the University of Nebraska. It is desirable that all clubs secure their pledges before the meetings of the disinterested convention and that reports may be made and definite information secured regarding the available funds. The scholarship will amount to $50 and if every club women of the state would give only 10 cents, this amount could be raised without difficulty. Miss Harriet Herabe of Nebraska City is in charge of this fund and the examinations have been arranged by Mrs. E. L. Homan of Lincoln.

Applications for the Brownell Hall scholarship available to daughters of Nebraska clubwomen must be made to Mrs. F. H. Cole, 1319 Spencer street, Omaha, not later than June 25. They must be accompanied by references to former teachers and school record of applicant, the clergyman of the church she attends and one business man, preferably a banker, to whom the applicant's family is known.

From an ethical standpoint the club women acknowledge their obligation to place Nebraska with other states contributing $100 to the English scholarship fund asked by the General Federation. This sum must be made up from voluntary contributions, however, and about half of it has already been subscribed.

Omaha women's clubs have not elected their delegates to the Cincinnati biennial as yet, so it will be at least two weeks before the personnel of the local delegation can be known definitely. Many of the state clubs have not elected either, but among the women who have announced their intention of attending are Mrs. W. M. Davidson of Springfield, Mrs. L. I. Cowin of Ashland, Mrs. C. M. Schindell of South Omaha, Mrs. J. M. Gill and Mrs. J. T. Johnston of Omaha, Mrs. L. G. Simon of Sidney, Mrs. M. H. Corbett of Atkinson, Mrs. J. N. Paul of St. Paul and Mrs. J. I. Rhea of Holdrege, all state officers or committee members. Mrs. H. L. Keefe of Walthill, is one of the directors of the General Federation, and will, of course, attend, and Mrs. F. H. Cole, as state president, will attend.

The current topic department will give the program at Monday afternoon's meeting of the Woman's club. Rabbi Frederick Cohn will talk on "Immigration," and Miss Minna Webber will sing. A lecture will be given before the literature department of the Woman's club Wednesday of this week, by Dr. Susan La Flesche Picotte, on "American Folk-Tales."

When Miss Daly Weds Her Count the Public Will Not See the Show at "Jack" Astor as the Social Leader is Now a Question of Debate.

(By Margaret Watts De Peyster.)
NEW YORK, March 26.—(Special to the Publishers Press).—The newest international alliance linking Miss Harriet Daly, daughter of the late Marcus Daly of Montana, in wedlock to Count Sigray, of a noble Hungarian house, falls upon this coming Tuesday. It is strange to note the simplicity of the plans, whereas the Szecheny-Vanderbilt wedding, where the young couple first met, were ultra gorgeous in its plan. Both Count Sigray and Miss Daly knew that if a luxurious affair were planned for the church it would require nearly the entire police force of the city to hold back the curious throngs. Hence it has been decided to follow the wedding with a reception at the Daly mansion at 725 Fifth avenue, where the show will come in. There will be neither bridesmaids nor ushers. Mrs. Daly will give away her daughter and Count Anton Sigray will be attended by Marquis Pallavicini. The count and countess will sail for Europe later in the week.

Mrs. Henry White, wife of the former ambassador to France, will spend the balance of the spring and the entire summer in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. White will be joined abroad by their son-in-law and daughter, Count Hermann von Scherff-Thess of Berlin.

This will be a gay week at Atlantic City. Easter time always makes the coast resort the mecca for certain sets of fashionables of New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., is in California. Miss French-Vanderbilt, who has been at St. Moritz, will return to this side soon.

Well may you ask:

"Who is the youthful gentleman in the wonderful hat?"

That, my dear friends, is Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., son of Colonel Roosevelt, the former president.

Since Mr. Roosevelt's engagement to Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander he has bought his first silk hat. My, but it is a wonder. Perfect in angle, shiny as a new gold dollar and shimmering in the Fifth avenue or "Legends of the Red American Indians and Totem Tales," the lecture to take place of the usual lesson.

Dr. Picotte is a descendant of the last chief of the Omaha Indians. She is a graduate of Jefferson Medical college and lives at Walthill, Neb., where she devotes her time and medical knowledge gratuitously to work among her own people.

Dr. Picotte recently represented her tribe at a general consultation upon Indian affairs at Washington. The time of the lecture will be 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and will follow a luncheon given Dr. Picotte by the class, at the Loyal hotel. All members of the club invited to attend the lecture.

Miss Anna Caldwell, head of the kindergarten department of the Kearney Normal school, will be the guest of the Household Economics department, Thursday. The meeting will be called at 10:30 and the women will bring luncheon and remain during the afternoon. Miss Caldwell will speak of "Industrial Work in Modern Life." After luncheon there will be a stock-telling hour and an informal program will be given by Miss Bolis and Mrs. E. O'Brien. Miss Kate Swartzlander, Miss Edith Tobitt and Mrs. O. E. Chittenden of the Story Teller's league will be the guests of the afternoon.

The Society of Fine Arts has a meeting Thursday morning at the public library. Mrs. Harry Nott will be the leader, assisted by Mrs. A. W. Jeffers. The artists to be considered are Horace Vernet, Gericault and Delacroix.

sunshine, it makes young Mr. Roosevelt look like an ex-president himself.

Since the fine weather has come Mr. Roosevelt spends so much time in New York that I wonder how he manages to hold his position, but I dare say there is more sentiment in business than we imagine. On beautiful afternoons Mr. Roosevelt, attired in frock coat and that wonderful hat, strolls through Fifth avenue, and at his side is Miss Alexander. Both are very happy.

As a wedding present from the firm with which he is employed Mr. Roosevelt, after his marriage, will be transferred to a responsible position in the San Francisco department and will receive a substantial increase in pay, too.

An interesting marriage this spring will be that of Miss Rhea Helen Reid, daughter of Daniel G. Reid of Rock Island fame, to Henry J. Topping, son of J. A. Topping, who is chairman of the board of directors of the Republic Iron and Steel company. I fancy that this will be rather an ornate affair, for Mr. Reid has the reputation of having many millions and he dearly loves display. Incidentally, young Mr. Topping is a repetition of the Boyd theater elevator tragedy came dangerously near being consumed Friday afternoon in Bright's Society hall. The hall was at the time thronged with people attending the Ladies of the Grand Army luncheon. The elevator had been brought to the third floor and the elevator boy had left the car for a few moments, closing the door and the lift had automatically locked itself.

A moment or two later some one, supposedly a student of the commercial college, conceived the idea that he would run the elevator up to the fourth floor. He opened the shaft door and left it open while he went on to the upper floor in the car and leisurely looked for some books he had left up there.

In the meanwhile two young women, Miss Sadie Berger and Miss Hester Peters, came out in the hall on the third floor to take the elevator down. They were just starting to step into the open shaft door, when it occurred to Miss Peters to look and see if the elevator was there. Seeing nothing but a yawning shaft below her bristly stepped back, drawing Miss Berger with her, thus saving them both from plunging headlong down the three floors. Both
